

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

The Congregational church in Danville was organized 125 years ago this week.

A large white sign, "Historic Bennington Welcomes You," greets coming tourists to that village.

Elmer Davis died suddenly at his home in Royalton Sunday, as he was sitting at the table. He had suffered for many years with asthma.

Ira D. Shaw of Berlin, O., a native of Northfield and for two years principal of the Randolph high school, sailed Tuesday for France, where he will engage in Y. M. C. A. work in the war zone.

William I. Curtis, employed by a Burlington grocer, tripped as he was going down a flight of stairs, his right foot going through a cellar window. Several tendons were severed and the ankle bone was cut.

The Burlington board of aldermen has passed a resolution which will provide for the appointment of a police matron for the city, to act with the regular authorities in the cases of women and children arrested for law violations.

Clayton Courcy, employed at the Ventilation Blind company's factory in Burlington, inadvertently lifted his knee too near the saw on which he was working, which made a cut two inches deep into the bone of the knee. He was taken to the Mary Fletcher hospital.

Ralph Robb, telegraph operator at the Central Vermont station in Northfield, has enlisted in the naval service and has been assigned duty as a landman in the radio service. He is at the Brooklyn navy yard for instruction in wireless telegraphy.

It is noted in the state press that Brig.-Gen. Charles J. Bailey, recently in command of the Philippines department, has been relieved and is under orders to report to Washington for duty. General Bailey, as a lieutenant, was stationed at the University of Vermont as professor of military science and tactics at the time of the breaking out of war with Spain. It is supposed that his call to Washington means that he will be given a European command.

Has Many Relics.

Mrs. M. M. Strong of Burlington is the owner of several 18th century articles which have been handed down from both her father's and mother's families. Among them is a copy of the New York Morning Post, which was published on Friday, November 7, 1783. This paper contains Washington's farewell address to the citizens of the United States, in full. Another is a deed made out during the reign of King George and dated July 19, 1778. These she inherited from her father's side.

She also has an old Bible and pair of spectacles. The Bible is very large and has metal clasps. It was published in 1702 and brought from Amsterdam, Holland, in 1709 by her grandmother, Mrs. Grosbeck. The old spectacles were gold-rimmed, the lenses being octagonal instead of round and the bows having holes through which a black cord was run to hold them on. These were made in about 1709.

Mrs. Strong also has a document issued to her father's grandfather, Gerhart Schaeffer, by the mayor and court of Hilgert Dorf in Germany, when he left that country to come to America in 1709. It is a guarantee of his honesty and industriousness and served as a recommendation to all whom he might meet.

Besides the above things, Mrs. Strong has a book "The Journal of the Tour to the Hebrides with Samuel Johnson," by Boswell. It was printed in 1746 and was found in a deserted house owned by Robert Saunders of Williamstown, Va., and was presented to her husband, Gen. Thomas J. Strong of the 16th New York artillery, by Major Fred W. Prince in 1864.

MOTHER WINS CHILD.

But John E. Deyette of Burlington Won Divorce.

Burlington, Aug. 9.—The sensational divorce suit in which John E. Deyette and Mrs. Eugenie Deyette were contesting for the custody of their four-year-old daughter was brought to a close yesterday in county court when Judge Butler gave the custody of the child to Mrs. Deyette. The husband is to pay $100 a year alimony for the child's support. A cross suit for divorce had been filed and the divorce was granted to Mr. Deyette on the ground of intolerable severity. Mr. Deyette announced that he will take the case to the supreme court in an effort to obtain the custody of the daughter. During the trial which has occupied many days, much testimony of an unsensational character has been introduced, in an effort to prove that Mrs. Deyette was an unfit person to take care of the child about whom the main story centered.

No Government Reward for Potash Discoveries.

The government has offered no reward to the discoverer of deposits of soluble potash. When it is realized that soluble potash is now selling in the United States for ten times the price asked for it before the outbreak of the European war, and that no more than one-twentieth of the amount commonly used before the war is now produced in this country, it will be seen that the government has no need to offer a reward. The discovery of commercial amounts of soluble potash is its own reward.

COOKED BANANAS.

Fried or Baked, They Are a Delicious and Nourishing Food.

Americans already eat millions of bananas a year as raw fruit, but our capacity would be much larger, according to the food economists, if we would use it more extensively as a cooked food. There are many ways of cooking bananas, and in most of the lands where they grow fried and stewed bananas are staple articles of diet.

The banana contains as large a percentage of carbohydrates (starch and sugar) as does the potato and nearly the same proportions of other constituents, with the exception of polish. It is not a perfect substitute for the potato, but very near it.

Most American housewives do not know how to cook bananas. For fried bananas peel and split them, dip each half into well beaten egg, then into fine breadcrumbs and fry in hot oil.

More digestible are baked bananas. Bananas may be baked whole, one side of the skin being stripped back in this case, or they may be peeled and cut in halves. The fruit should be put in a baking pan, sprinkled with cinnamon, a half cupful of sugar, a pinch of salt and tiny bits of butter. Pour into the pan a half cupful of water and bake frequently while baking in a quick oven. Lemon juice may be substituted for cinnamon, making it into a sirup before baking, then pouring over the fruit when placed in the oven. Apples may be baked with the peeled bananas, and the combination is delicious.

SHARK MEAT IS RANK.

But the Arabs of Aden Eat It Both Fresh and Dried.

Shark fishing is an important industry at Aden, Arabia. The poorer classes of the inhabitants depend on this fish for their only taste of sea food. Some of the meat is dried and preserved in salt. The fins and maws are shipped to China, and the livers produce an oil that is used for a varnish on boats.

The Arab in his primitive boat, or dhow, a flat bottomed craft of some 150 tons burden, finds his best fishing grounds between Aden and Shukra during the cool months from October to March. He uses both nets and hooks. Fishing is sometimes done from a small boat, but this is dangerous, as a large fish occasionally overturns the boat, and the fishermen become the prey of other sharks.

Small sharks are sold in the Aden fish bazaar for about half the price of other edible fish. Fresh shark meat is very strong, and one must develop a taste for it to enjoy it.

Maleh, or salt dried shark meat, has the largest market of any of the by-products. It is used in such quantities by the Arabs of the interior that the local market cannot meet the demand, and much of the meat consumed has to be imported from the Arabian gulf ports. Like the fresh meat, maleh is strong in taste and odor—New York Sun.

Sparrows.
The white throated and white crowned sparrows may be told by their names. The fox sparrow is the larger, bright, rufous streaks and big spots on breast. The song sparrow is about the size of an English sparrow, but with a longer tail, streaks and large spot on breast. The chipping and field sparrows are smaller, with no spots on breast. The former has lines on head; the latter is rufous and sings very sweetly.

Fables in the Bible.
Of the fable as distinguished from the parable there are but two examples in the Bible. The first of these is that of the trees choosing their king (Judges ix, 8-15); the second that of the cedar of Lebanon and the thistle (II Kings xiv, 9).

"Stop worrying" is a physician's best prescription and the hardest to take.

Foolish Question.

An official who was making up an assessment roll because of some recent street improvements called at each house on the improved streets to learn the names of the property owners. At one house he climbed out of his car, went to the door and knocked.

"Who owns this property?" he asked.

"Why, I do," the woman answered.

The official got her name and put it down in his book. Then he took a squint at the size of the lot.

"How many feet?" he asked.

"Two, of course!" the woman snapped, wondering whether he thought she was a centipede.—Indianapolis News.

Aluminum.

Bauxite is a mineral that contains aluminum in a combination which the electric furnace will tear apart, thus producing the metal. Clay also contains it in vast quantity, but the trick has not yet been turned to set free the aluminum in clay. So bauxite is used.—New York Sun.

Surgery in Stone Age.

A flint knife has recently been found in Fraserburgh, Aberdeenshire, which had been used in performing surgical operations in the stone age. It is almost identical with the operating knife adopted by surgeons within the past few years.—London Mail.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
